Comment Date: December 2, 2002
Reply Comment Date: January 2, 2003

The Federal Communications Commission's Media Ownership Working Group ("MOWG") today released twelve (12) studies intended to inform the Commission's comprehensive review of its broadcast ownership policies undertaken in its 2002 Biennial Regulatory Review – Review of the Commission's Broadcast Ownership Rules and Other Rules Adopted Pursuant to Section 202 of the Telecommunications Act of 1996 ("2002 Biennial Ownership NPRM").<sup>1</sup> The studies, which were conducted by outside researchers and by Commission staff, examine a range of issues that impact diversity, competition and localism, three important policy goals of the structural ownership rules. The studies will be incorporated into the record of the biennial review proceeding in MB Docket No. 02-277 and are available on the Commission's website at <http://www.fcc.gov/ownership/studies.html>.

In releasing the 2002 Biennial Ownership NPRM, the Commission indicated that parties should address these studies in their comments and should initiate their own independent analyses of the media marketplace. The Commission intends to use the evidence collected in the studies, as well as the comments, to guide and support its decisions in the ownership proceeding.
